April Newsletter

Dear Friend,

After more than a year of isolation, the warmer days of spring are welcomed by all of us at NCLC who care for our 12,500 acres of protected lands and waters. We look forward to more time spent in the field, including building a new trail extension at the Mallory

Schneckenburger Preserve in Sherman. And, we have posted updated trail maps on our website to help you enjoy your time outdoors as well. As always, if you would like trail recommendations or have questions, you are welcome to contact our staff anytime here.

This month, I am pleased to share the national Land Trust Accreditation Commission awarded NCLC renewed accreditation. In addition, we have a number of upcoming in-person and virtual events, including an Earth Day roadside clean-up led by NCLC's Naromi Council. You can read about all this and more below.

Lastly, Give Local is one week away and it is a terrific opportunity to have your support of conservation enhanced. On April 20 and 21, any contribution made to NCLC on the Give Local website will be boosted by matching funds from the Connecticut Community Foundation and local sponsors. If your NCLC membership has lapsed or you would like to give again, I hope you will consider a gift, which is 100% tax deductible. Your support makes a tremendous difference.

Thank you for caring so much about conservation, our communities, and the lands and waters of Northwest Connecticut. I am profoundly grateful for your support.

NCLC Receives Accreditation Renewal

We are thrilled to announce the national Land Trust Accreditation Commission awarded NCLC renewed accreditation. Conservation is a promise to safeguard the lands and waters essential for your health and well-being forever. Land Trust Accreditation is awarded to land trusts that meet the highest national standards for excellence and conservation permanence.

Accredited land trusts now steward almost 20 million acres—the size of Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and Vermont combined. When our nation's lands, waters, and wildlife are healthy and thrive, so do our communities. Global warming and the pandemic have revealed the extraordinary value of protecting our lands close to home, the lands we love most. As an accredited land trust, we are committed and able to address the challenges of the present and future.

Ready, Set, Give Local!

GIVE LOCAL APRIL 20-21

Give Local is a 36-hour fundraiser sponsored by the Connecticut Community Foundation that harnesses the generosity of our community and local businesses. On April 20 and 21, any contribution made to NCLC on the Give Local website will be boosted by matching funds. We hope you will stand for the land by making a donation of any size or sharing our emails and social media posts with friends who also love Connecticut's natural lands and waters. You can click these links to follow NCLC on Instagram and Facebook. Thank you for your continuing support for the land, conservation, and NCLC. We are humbled by the legacy of conservation you make possible.
